Between Us

About the nicest thing we have read recently is the interesting mention our High School paper received last week in the Atlanta Journal and its competition for printed papers of smaller schools. Helen Aldred is editor-in-chief of the paper, and was also given the much-coveted high school honor of being selected "Miss Citizenship of 1942." Our young people gave the play they first prize in the district and delighted their audience. Jack Averitt and Mr. Neil gave an outstanding piano and organ recital this past week. Jack handles an organ equally as well as he does the piano, and is truly a young artist. It's quite a pleasure to have our people come home for visits, and one who is greatly admired and loved is Clara Leck Paschal, very charming and beautiful, and always here. She is far too short. With so much happening this week one has hardly had time for much entertaining, but several informal parties have been given. Nita Morgan was up for the week end and several little get-togethers were given for her. A young lady in our town who has given of her time and talents this winter is Mamie Jones. She has been giving different popular novels at the open house meetings of the Woman's Club, and Friday night she is reading "Watch on the Rhine." The readings have been proving not only popular, but very entertaining, and the public is always invited to them. It is not news when a couple goes off for a visit and one member of the party loses a hat or some other article, but it is very unusual when both lose their hats on the same trip. Recently Toots and Glenn Jennings and Everett and Mary Agnes Williams went to attend the drugists convention in Atlanta. On the way up Toots left her hat when they stopped to eat in Macon. Not observing her loss till they were way on their way, she went on to Atlanta minus her hat. Coming back they stopped over in Macon for supper and after going some distance, Glenn discovered his hat was missing. They had to go back for it, and after taking cracks all the way up about her carelessness, the tables had turned and the joke was on the other fellow. However, neither lost their hats, as she picked her's up coming back through. Latane Lanier was here for the week end and was attending to his duties in his suit and a smart straw sailor. Friday is May Day at the college, and three of our town girls are going to be attendants to the queen, Sara Alice Bradley Dot Remington and Joyce Smith. Surely three prettier girls could be found nowhere. AROUND TOWN.

ENTRE NOUS

A lovely club party of the week was given with Mrs. Fred Smith hostess to members of the Entre Nous club and a few other guests Thursday morning. Guests assembled at Eli's Drug Company's, where they were served sandwiches, pickles, macaroni and coles-cabbage. Bud Vases filled with sweet peas and roses were used on the tables. After refreshments bridge was played at the home of Mrs. Dean Anderson, where an arrangement of roses and sweet peas was used. For high scores finger-pitch towels were given Mrs. W. H. Blitch for club high and Mrs. Edwin Groover for visitors' high. For cut kitchen towels went to Mrs. Dan Brumley. Other guests included Mrs. Frank Grimes, Mrs. Grover Brannen, Mrs. Fred T. Lanier, Mrs. A. M. Braswell, Mrs. Glenn Jennings, Mrs. J. M. Thayer, Mrs. J. P. Foy, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Bruce Olliff and Mrs. Horace Smith.

CHURCHES UNITE

WELCOME PASTOR

Rev. E. A. Woods Begins His Pastorate at Statesboro Presbyterian Church Sunday

A right unique service was that in which members of the other denominations of Statesboro joined Sunday evening in a welcome to the new pastor of the Presbyterian church, who that day entered upon his labors with the local church.

Preceding the program of welcome, Donald Reid, of the Teachers College orchestra, presented a program of delightful music in which about thirty voices, male and female, participated.

Fielding Russell, of the official board of the church, presided over the exercises and introduced those who spoke words of welcome. Z. S. Henderson, of the Methodist church, joined Sunday evening in a welcome to the new pastor of the Presbyterian church, who that day entered upon his labors with the local church.

Rev. T. J. Cobb, J. S. McLemore and William Hurrey and Mrs. E. V. Groover left Wednesday for Asheville to attend the Southern Baptist convention.

"The people of Georgia have adopted the white primary for the selection of their Democratic candidates; that is, because most of the negroes are Republicans and have no right in a Democratic primary."

Card from Madison Warren: "At the solicitation of my many friends I consented to become a candidate for the legislature. Since Madison becomes an issue which places myself and my friends in a very awkward situation; the citizens of Madison want me to announce in favor of dispensary, and my anti-dispensary friends want me to announce against the dispensary. In retiring from the race I do so with honest convictions."

GEORGIANS URGED
PURCHASE BONDS

Employed Persons Asked To Invest Ten Per Cent Of Income in Securities

Georgians who haven't already signed pledge cards indicating their intention of buying United States War Savings Bonds and Stamps regularly, today were urged to do so quickly, as possible by Marion H. Allen, state War Savings administrator. Income-receiving individuals are being asked to devote at least 10 per cent of their income for purchasing War Bonds and Stamps.

Only three days remain for the house-to-house canvass of rural areas in the campaign to sign 1,000,000 Georgians to pledge cards for buying Uncle Sam's securities, and thus help liquidate Hitler's Nazis and the treacherous Japanese.

Fine progress has been reported in the campaign to sign 1,000,000 Georgians to pledge cards for buying Uncle Sam's securities, and thus help liquidate Hitler's Nazis and the treacherous Japanese.

Wednesday morning who were dressed in a blue tailored dress, with matching carboys, brown and white oxfords and a navy blue bag. Your dark hair is always perfectly arranged. You have two children, a college boy and a younger son.

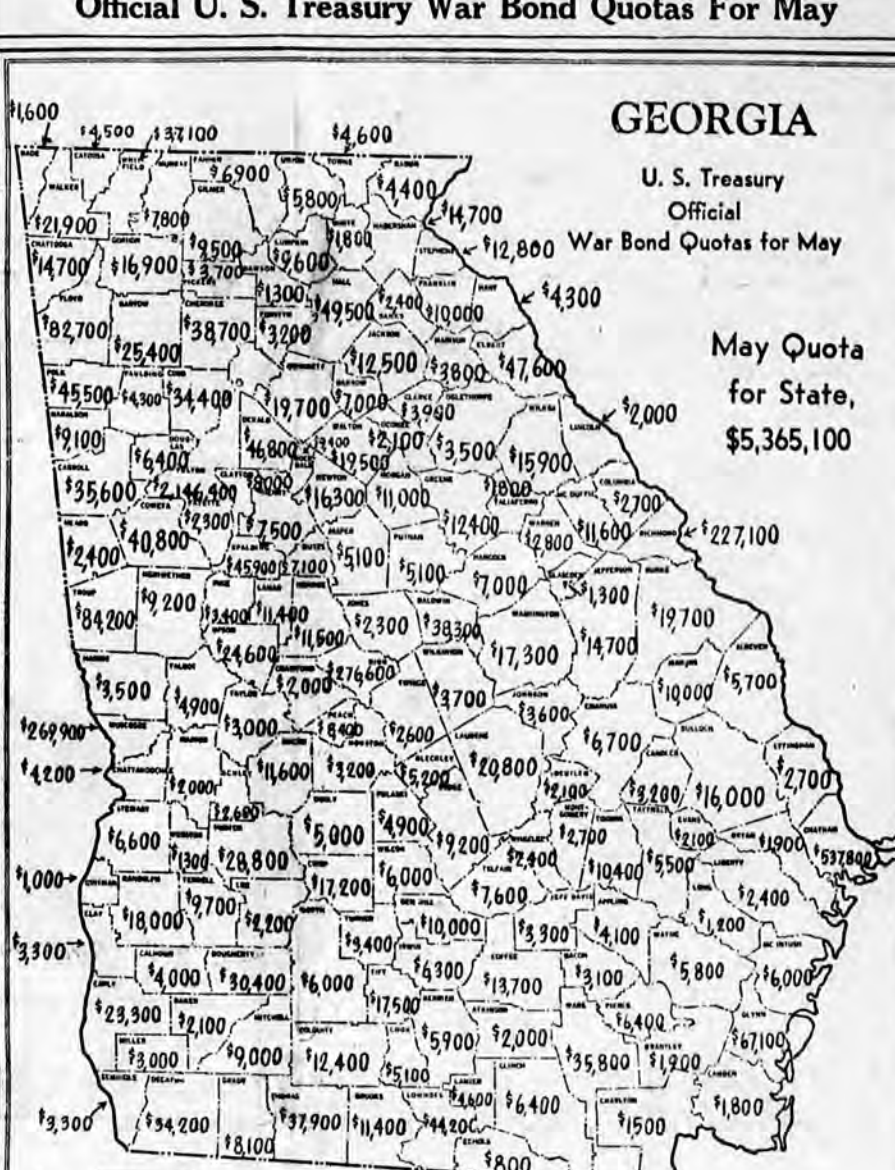

If the ladies described will call at the Times office she will be given two tickets to the picture, "Lady God." Showing Friday and Friday at the Georgia Theatre. There are three big stars in this picture, Eleanor Powell, Ann Southern and Lionel Barrymore. It's a real treat to see this picture.

Watch next week for new class. The lady described last week was Mrs. Roy Smith. Portia, she attended the show Friday evening. She says she reads this feature every week and she was thrilled to receive the tickets.

REGISTER NEXT WEEK
FOR YOUR GASOLINE

LETTING OF BLOOD
PRICE OF LIBERTY

"Called On For Another Installment," is Reasoning Of Minister at Rotary Club

"All that we enjoy as citizens of a free nation has been obtained through the shedding of blood; that which we face now is but a demand for another installment," soliloquized Elder V. E. Agan, in a brief response at the Monday meeting of the Rotary Club.

In Statesboro in advance of the beginning of special services at the Primitive Baptist church of which he is pastor, Elder Agan was the guest of one of his members at the luncheon. As is the custom, visitors are introduced with "We'd be glad to hear from you briefly if you have anything to say." What he said was full of meaning. He declared that every right and liberty which we enjoy is bought by the blood of the brave. LOCAL LIONS CLUB
HAS INSTALLATION

Fish Supper Served Makes Evening Meeting Most Delightful Occasion

With E. G. Livingston, the new president, presiding, the new officers of the Statesboro Lion's Club were formally installed at a meeting held Wednesday evening, April 29th. The occasion was a fish supper given the outdoor kitchen of B. F. Brannen, secretary.

Gordon Franklin, immediate past-president, was presented with a gold pin in recognition of his service to the club. In presenting the pin Lion Livingston mentioned the fact that Lion Franklin had the distinction that no other member could have in Statesboro—that of being the first past-president.

The complete list of officers are: President, E. G. Livingston; first vice-president, E. L. Heible; second vice-president, J. R. Donaldson; third vice-president, H. R. Christian; lion tamer, F. S. Pruitt; tail waiter, Irom Carr; secretary, H. F. Brannen. Three additional members were elected to serve on the board of directors with the officers. They are W. H. Burke, A. B. Green Jr. and H. W. Dodd.

The local club was organized in March, 1941, and has enjoyed steady growth and progress since its inception.

In conjunction with the state-wide program of organization for defense a three-day training course will be conducted next week—Thursday, Friday and Saturday—in Savannah. H. V. Jenkins, district chairman of the defense committee, was in Statesboro Wednesday with a party comprising his advisory committee, at which time this matter was presented before the members of the local defense council, who thereupon designated a group to attend the school in Savannah. This Bulloch county delegation comprises Byron Dyer, E. D. Pulliam, J. F. Brannen, Bill Strickland, Edgar Hart, J. H. Griffith, G. T. Gard, Logan Hagin, O. E. Gay, H. B. O'Kelly and Edgar Cone.

ARNALL IS UPHELD IN ASPHALT CASE

High Court Recognizes Georgia's Right to Sue For Refund on Materials

Climaxing a lengthy, determined fight by Attorney General Ellis Arnall, the state of Georgia has won the right to sue for triple damages in the recent decision rendered by the U. S. supreme court.

Arnall, backed by the attorney general of thirty-four other states, had claimed that a state was a "person," entitled to sue for three times the amount of damages allegedly resulting from any violation of the federal anti-trust laws.

Georgia sought a $384,081 judgment on the grounds that Evans and others had entered into a combination or conspiracy to eliminate competition and control prices of emulsified asphalt sold to the Georgia Highway Department, contending the state had suffered actual damages of $128,027. The other defendants named were John W. Greer Jr., American Bitumuls Co., Shell Oil Co. Inc., and Emulsified Asphalt Refining Co.

Declaring that the state would prosecute the suits in U. S. district court here Arnall explained, "We could have gone on and tried the case before, but now for every dollar we recover the state will get three."

URGENT APPEAL IS OUT FOR MARINES

Is Special Need For Men Qualified To Serve In Limited Classes

Savannah, May 4.—A call this month for the largest number of volunteers ever sought for the limited service reserve division of the United States Marines was sounded here today by Major A. C. Small, officer in charge of marine recruiting in South Carolina and eastern Georgia.

Major Small said the Marine Corps is in particular need of men qualified for service with the devil dogs under the limited service classification and urged all who think they meet requirements to call at the nearest marine recruiting station.

The limited service reserve is for men between 30 and 50 years of age who are physically unqualified for combat duty, and who are not subject to combat duty due to dependents. They are stationed at naval bases within the Continental United States for guard duty, relief in regular marines.

Veterans of the first World War and former marines are eligible for reappointment to their rank at time of discharge. Major Small said, up to rank of sergeant. In case applicants held higher ratings their reappointment must be approved by marine corps headquarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin, Miss Mary Slater and Miss Ethel McCormick.

The Junior Red Cross sewing club of this town met at the home of Peggy Robertson Wednesday afternoon. After an hour of sewing the hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. W. Robertson Jr., and Mrs. J. W. Robertson Sr. in serving refreshments.

Shuman, Blanche Hood, Lillian Ryals, Dorothy Ryals, Barbara Jones, Ellie Ruth Belcher, Jeneal Harrison, Eugenia Alderman, Ellie Parrish and Peggy Robertson. The next meeting will be held with Eugenia Alderman.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Brooklet school district will hold its last meeting of the scholastic year Thursday afternoon at three o'clock in the auditorium. J. H. Griffith, head of the vocational department, has arranged a program on the subject of "Defense Begins at Home."

His special theme for the afternoon's program will be "Youth Marches On." The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold its May meeting Thursday afternoon, May 14, at 4:30 o'clock, in the Primitive Baptist church. The public is cordially invited to hear the well-arranged program.

PRE-SCHOOL CLINIC WILL BE HELD MAY 12

There will be a pre-school clinic held at the Brooklet High School on Tuesday, May 12, at 10 o'clock in the morning. All mothers who have children six years of age or younger are requested to bring them to the school house on that date. Dr. O. F. Williams, of Statesboro, county health officer, will be present to conduct the clinic.

BOSTON BULL PUP RECOVERED BY ADV

Dog Lost in Statesboro Shows Up In Augusta and Is Recovered By Owner

FOUND—On outskirts, Boston bulldog; will return to owner on description; write JACK CHAMBERS, Augusta Herald, Augusta.

This advertisement appeared in our columns last Thursday. Friday morning when the reporter went for his mail he met Dr. Ben Deal standing gleefully by his car, with a fast-sized, pop-eyed black dog in leash. We hardly recognized Dr. Deal because his broad smile obscured his face, and we didn't recognize the dog at all, because we didn't know what a Boston bulldog looked like. But we stopped and found out the whole story.

The dog on leash was the identical dog we had advertised the day before as having been found "on outskirts," and which was said at that time to be in custody of a man in Augusta ready for "return on description."

It hadn't taken Dr. Deal long to make contact by phone, and within a few intervening hours the dog was back in Statesboro after having seen that vast expanse of the universe which lies between Statesboro and Augusta. (In the meantime Dr. Deal had sought far and near without satisfactory results.)

The story of explanation was that Jack Chambers was passing through Statesboro enroute to Augusta and stopped somewhere for a brief moment. That little fast-sized bulldog accustomed to crawl into cars with open doors, Jack Chambers' car looked inviting, and the crawl-in was easy. Jack, being a newspaper man, knew how to get under and dog together—he mailed an advertisement to the Bulloch Times.

And that is how it happened that Ben Deal was smiling Friday morning with a fast-sized bulldog tugging at his leash.

Incidentally, another happy man was C. O. Anderson when we saw him Monday. Last week he had advertised "two black Angus steers about one year old, weighing around 300 pounds," which had been missing three weeks; he was afraid they had gone out of circulation at some distant slaughter house, but he took a last chance. Saturday he heard from friends at separate points in the county informing him of the presence of his stray steers. Now he believes in advertising.

Moral, don't hunt; advertise.

PORTAL POINTS

Mrs. Mary Wilson, of Springfield, is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Paul Edlenfield entertained her bridge club Tuesday night.

M. C. Hulse, of Florida, is spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. M. C. Hulse.

Miss Matilda Turner has returned to Savannah to resume her studies in a business college there.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miles and son, of Metter, spent Sunday with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Stewart.

Next Sunday quarterly conference will be held at the Methodist church here, with the presiding elder preaching at the morning service.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nesmith and daughters, Jack and Mary, and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Brannen, of Augusta, spent the week end with relatives in Portal.

James Dean, who is with the U. S. Army, stationed in Florida, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Dean. Another son, Alton, who has been with the Navy in Iceland, has recently visited them also.

The condition of W. J. Williams, who has been ill for several months, is critical. Mrs. Maggie Womack, of Atlanta; Mrs. C. J. Prather and Mrs. Reader, of Augusta, and Jim Williams of Statesboro, are with him. Other children, John and Oscar, of Akron, Ohio; Robert, of Fynt, Mich., and Mrs. Dickerson, of Brooklet, have been called.

LOCAL ACTIVITY HIGHLY ENDORSED

Soil Conservation Report Discloses Satisfactory Work Done Throughout District

The annual report of the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District is encouraging to Dr. T. S. Buie, regional conservator, as indicated in a recent letter to W. R. Anderson, chairman of the Bulloch county district. Dr. Buie's letter is as follows:

"Progress is being made not only in the interest of the public generally, but in the application of methods which will do much to conserve the soil for future generations."

"Although your district has not been in operation for a sufficiently long time for you to have an imposing list of accomplishments, the report indicates the spirit of the supervisors, and it is particularly encouraging to note your objectives for 1942. I trust that the soil conservation service may be able to do its part by furnishing a suitable group of technicians and others to assist you in carrying out your plans."

"The need for increased food and feed production as a war effort is placing a particularly severe strain on our whole agricultural establishment, and it will require the best efforts of all combined if we are to succeed in our objectives. I mention this because special demands which may, and doubtless will, be made upon us during the next few months may indicate a slackening of interest in the district operations. This is not the case, even though our emphasis may temporarily be diverted to production problems."

On the contrary, I feel sure that the soil conservation districts will make a most important place for themselves in the war effort, and contribute vitally toward victory. I am sure you agree with me.

"Again let me say that I enjoyed reading your report and am glad to note the excellent manner in which you are recognizing and meeting the problems which are encountered."

FARMERS VOTE ON TOBACCO CONTROL

Flue-Cured Growers Conduct Referendum May 25 to 28 On Subject Of Inspection

The Agricultural Marketing Administration has announced that a referendum will be held May 25th through May 28th for forty-nine flue-cured tobacco markets in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, to determine whether these markets shall be designated for free and mandatory inspection of all tobacco passing over the auction sales floor.

The referendum will cover the following markets in Georgia: Badley, Blackshear, Hazlehurst, Moultrie, Pelham, Tifton, Vidalia and Waycross. Other Georgia markets already have this system.

Twenty-six flue-cured markets are already designated in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. If two-thirds of the growers voting approve tobacco inspection, the markets named above will be designated for free and mandatory inspection service. The service will be inaugurated thereon as rapidly as conditions permit and tobacco will be graded at no cost to the grower.

Under the Tobacco Inspection Act, all growers who sold at auction on these markets last year are eligible to vote. Ballots will be mailed to growers who patronized these markets last season insofar as their names and addresses are known. Growers who do not receive ballots by mail may get them from their county agent or from the office of the county Agricultural Conservation Association.

Growers who patronize markets on which the inspection service is conducted have access to a daily market report showing average prices by grade. With grades plainly indicated on each lot and price reports for the previous day's sale on each grade, growers have a reliable guide for use in accepting or rejecting bids offered. This inspection and market news service is free to growers.

ELMER BAPTIST W.M.S.

The regular meeting of our W.M.S. will be held with Mrs. Charlie Zetrower on Thursday, May 14th, at 4 o'clock. The topic of the month, "Whatsoever Things are Lovely," will be presented by Mrs. Little Ruth Newcome. A contribution of cash and lines will be sent this month to the Georgia Baptist Hospital in Atlanta. We hope to have the usual good attendance.

Carr-Buncle Pains

By KERMIT R. CARR

It has been stated that the only mental exercise that some people get is jumping at conclusions. If that be true, there are a lot of people in Statesboro who should be suffering from severe cases of mental fatigue.

If Hitler were author of a dictionary I wonder how he would define "peace."

"I don't know what Mr. Atwell, the local bakery man, does with all the money he makes, but everytime I see him he is 'kneading dough.'"

The president's speech the other night was certainly a blow to many ambitious young people. After all, what's the use of trying if your income is going to be limited to a mere $25,000 per year?

If a person were born on May 1, 1900, how old would that person be now? It depends, of course, on whether it is a man or woman.

Don't get alarmed if some night you think a squadron of Jap bombers is swooping down upon you. If you will reach up and switch on the light you will probably recognize your old friend, the mosquito.

Attention, husbands! Before you accuse your wife of nagging, check up and see if you have been acting like a mule.

Bulloch County Youth Shares With Friends

Camp Polk, La., April 28, 1942.

Bulloch Times, Statesboro, Ga.

Dear Mr. Turner:

Just a few lines to let you know how much I enjoy the Times and look forward to it every week. Also I wish to notify you of my change of address. I am now in the 33rd (Armed) Engineering Bn. and 7th Armored Division.

During the past three weeks I have found two more Bulloch county boys here at Camp Polk, Aubrey Brown, formerly employed by Statesboro Buggy Wagon Company, and Arthur Satter, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Satter. Neither of them knew that I was here until I went to see them and words won't describe the surprise that registered on their faces when they saw me. These boys, are now enjoying the Bulloch Times here because my copy is always missing after they have been around until I look one or the other up and recapture it. Anyway my paper makes the rounds always with the promise that it will be returned to me.

We are all getting along fine with the exception of being slightly sunburned.

We three Bulloch county boys usually get together about twice a week and talk of better days. Time passes much quicker since we have found hometown boys in our midst.

Please send all future copies of the Times to my new address.

Sincerely,
FRED T. LANIER JR.

Speaker To Discuss The AAA Program

The methods of checking performance for 1942 under the AAA program will be outlined at the Farm Bureau meeting Friday night in the court house.

Carl V. Summers, county administrator, will discuss "why and how" of the performance and explain how co-operators with the program may increase their payments in 1942. The procedure this year for proving the farmer's claim for payment is different from that followed in recent years. For this reason Fred T. Lanier, president of the Farm Bureau, urges every farmer in the county that expects a check from AAA in 1942 attend this meeting.

Two free educational pictures, "Army in Overalls" and "Building Bombers," will be a part of the program, starting at 8:30 p. m., war time.

sign a pledge to invest as much as he can and as often as he can.

"And here's why: Bonds are an investment; they are worth $4 for $2 if carried to maturity. It is sound security with good interest. Your bonds will buy simple implements of war, help keep down the cost of living, discourage inflation. Bonds will help avoid a depression after the war, and provide buying and other operating cash after the war.

"Your pledge is a patriotic duty to the boys at the front and on the seas. It is not a contract, only a moral obligation, and gives your government something to figure on in planning its present program for financing the war.

"The more bonds which are sold and pledged, the lower taxes will be and the greater the reserves in the hands of the masses," Mr. Allen concluded.

They Inspire Us

IF PERCHANCE there is developing in the minds of any aging person the suspicion that energy and high-mindedness in children ceased with the passing of the generation of which these old-agers were a part, let that suspicion perish.

To be sure most of the children you know are not as scintillating as they sometimes seem to imagine. They are not always as startlingly brilliant as their friends would like to have them counted. Perhaps about half-way between the highest point of self-appreciation and the lowest point of discredit, would be a safe basis from which to appraise the average child.

But those we are writing about in this editorial are not average children. They are leaders among the best, and it is they to whom this heading, "They Inspire Us," refers.

Last week's news story in this paper told of the honorable award which had been given to the Statesboro High School publication in its competition with other publications of Georgia high schools of equal rating. The Statesboro youngsters who produced the Hi-Owl were given first place among these competitors. It was a worthy achievement, and it makes us proud.

Then in connection with this same contest, an individual prize for the best editorial published in a high school paper of that rating was won by Miss Frances Martin, whose name appears as editor of the Hi-Owl. That makes us proud.

In Macon Friday evening, in a state-wide contest in which representatives from every congressional district in Georgia participated, a group of Statesboro boys and girls won first rating in the presentation of a play. The young people comprising this group were Misses Vivian Waters, Carmen Cowart and Julie Turner; Arnold Anderson and Duke Banks, between whom there is no intention to here make distinction as to merit. Their combined recognition makes us still more proud.

In the same event, a Statesboro girl, talented Helen Aldred, won first place in piano music in a state-wide contest, wherein were entered the best from every congressional district.

Added all together, you can understand what we mean in speaking of Statesboro when we say, "They Inspire Us." We take off our hats to these youngsters and those who directed them.

What of This Motive?

THERE IS, we believe, a sort of rigid theology that in the matter of conduct, motive is the standard of measurement for good or evil—that it is well nigh impossible to do a good thing from a wrong motive, and that right motive equalizes a vast amount of misdoing.

We are not going to take time at the present to thresh this matter out to a final conclusion, but off-hand we admit we have seen a good many things happen, the motives for which were not 100 per cent perfect.

Many years ago we had in our employ a rather aged and independent-natured old printer, remembered by some, whose name was Meacham; this old printer worked only when he wanted to, and quit when he grew restless. When he didn't work, he went somewhere and "panhandled" for a support. One day in Atlanta he observed a beggar on the streets, and he went to the beggar and ordered him to "Clear out from here; this is my begging territory; I'll slap you down if I catch you here again." The old printer being rather imposing in physique, the beggar was frightened away.

It wasn't good citizenship, but merely self-interest which actuated this gruff old Meacham. He was a bird!

Jack Murphy tells us a kindred story about a cat and a blue jay at his home last week. These cannibal jays have been a terror to smaller birds from the beginning of time, perhaps; daily they swoop down into a nest and carry away young birds to be fed to their own young. Everybody despises a jaybird. Cats do the same way, and nearly everybody despises cats.

Last week Jack says sparrows were sitting on the lower limbs of a tree in his yard. A cat was tempted and stealthily climbed the tree, swished her tail for a lunge—when suddenly a blue jay darted down and struck the cat exactly where the seat of her pants would have been if she had been wearing pants. Surprised, the cat fell from the tree in a dead run.

The jaybird flattered herself and flitted away. Jack was about to forgive her for the things he had thought about her criminality when he recalled that she was at heart no mean and wily creature. She had merely done what our old printer did thirty years ago when he warned the other mediator to stay off his territory.

After all, you'll admit that, whatever the motive, the jay had done a worthy act.

Elect Wrong Men?

THE FURTHER we go along life's pathway, the more fully we realize that we are prone to always do a wrong thing. Particularly, as it applies to the system of democracy under which we live, are we impressed that whoever we elect to office, is the wrong individual.

A flushed-face stranger with soft, rolling voice came to our office a few days ago with a portfolio in which he carried a list of easy prospects. He told us who he represented, and explained why we needed him and his organization. He reminded us that under recently enacted national laws we were required to pay a social security tax of 1 per cent of the wages paid employees, to be applied to a national fund for the support of our employees when they reach the age of 65 years and found it desirable to take a rest. He reminded us that personally he had already passed the restful age of 65, and that we were not eligible to participate under this social security arrangement when we finally went broke paying the tax and were unable to go further.

Then he came to the meat in the cocoon. He told us that his institution, offered and supported by the wealthiest men of the nation—men who could spare millions and still be stronger financially than we ever had reason to hope to be, but who perhaps had not spent longer hours of toil—had successfully resisted the operation of the law and procured a modification of the tax. He explained to us that this modification had personally saved our own business a fair sum, and he argued that in fairness we should be willing to divide this saving with his organization. His argument was almost irresistible—almost, but not quite; we kept our money.

But we wondered what sort of quirk of human nature it is that impels men to participate in a democracy, vote for officers to make and enforce laws, pay those lawmakers and enforcement officers liberal salaries—and then support institutions whose object is to defeat the laws enacted and sought to be enforced. We wondered if it really is true that we who call ourselves a democracy are always electing the wrong crowd; we wondered if it would not be better and more economical to elect to places of power those smarter individuals who, outside of official capacity, devote what they proclaim to be wiser, better and more equitable laws.

Some of these days we are going to sit down and study these thoughts to a conclusion: Why pay men to give us proper government, and then pay others to defeat these measures of government? We wish we had the answer.

DEMONSTRATION CLUBS IN ANNUAL STYLE REVUE

The home demonstration clubs will begin this month with their annual style revue. The clothing chairman of each club will have charge of this program. Miss Irma Spears, home demonstration agent, has requested that each clothing chairman prepare a costume for the revue. Competent judges will be present, and dresses will be scored on the following points: General appearance, 30 points; suitability of costume to individual, 20 points; suitability to purpose, 10 points; economic factors, 20 points; workmanship, 20 points.

BUSINESS GIRLS' CLUB TO SPONSOR BENEFIT

BEEES SELECT TANK FOR SAFETY VAULT

Sagacious Little Reapers Find Permanent Home Where Robbers Are Excluded

They are getting smarter every day, these little honey bees! Just about the time we had begun to suspect they were plain dumb for continuing to work for idle men—men who never have honey except that which they take by force or stealth from bees—the little workers have waked up. Henceforth intrusion will be more difficult, under the present setup of a colony of bees at Glenn Bland's home on Zettewor Avenue, according to a letter he made a few days ago. The robber who threatens will find himself stopped at the entrance, or else he will need to carry a blow torch or a cold chisel. What is it?

Glenn tells us he finds a colony of bees has set up housekeeping in a water tank. Particularly, if you've ever tried to break inside of a water tank you'll understand the wisdom of the move on the part of these bees, maybe.

The tank was a perfectly good one which had been discarded at the Bland home to make place for a more modern electric apparatus. It was moved into the back yard and permitted to stand in the open. When the new colony began snooping for a home, the opening in the top of the tank attracted attention, and they moved inside. Thus it was that Glenn found them coming and going—there were some established as well as new and burglar proof.

Can you beat the thought? Glenn is planning to procure a master can opener and a blow torch when harvest times come if the bees have not already decided to change their place of habitation.

TEACHERS' STUDY GROUP TO HOLD LAST MEETING

The last meeting of the Bulloch County Teachers Study Group will be held Monday afternoon, May 11, at 3:30 o'clock. All schools will run on a one-session schedule on that day so as to give the teachers time to reach the Statesboro High School building on time. Each department chairman will have a program planned for his or her group.

COX—WELLS

The chapel of Glenn Memorial Methodist church, Atlanta, formed the setting Sunday afternoon, May 3, for the wedding of Miss Janie Lou Cox, of Atlanta and Statesboro, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Cox, of Statesboro, to William Herbert Wells Jr., of Atlanta and Oxford, N. C., son of Mrs. Wells and the late William Herbert Wells.

The impressive double-ring ceremony was performed by Dr. William M. Elliott Jr. Music was presented by Mrs. John Hardaway, organist, and Wistar Denmark, soloist.

The usher-groomsman were William T. Crouch and Fred R. Pittman. Miss Euzena Cox, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a muted pink tulle gown, featuring a sweetheart neckline, a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her garden bouquet was of spring flowers in pastel shades tied with pink satin ribbon.

John A. Carlson served as best man. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her brunette beauty was accentuated by her wedding gown of white Duchesse satin, featuring a sweetheart neckline, a fitted bodice, full skirt and leg-o-mutton sleeves which made to a point over the hands. She wore a three-tiered veil of illusion tulle held by a coronet of seed pearls, and her bouquet was of swansons and orchids with a cascade effect of white satin ribbon and valley lilies.

The bride's mother wore a navy ensemble with navy accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose a robin's egg blue dress, worn with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The couple left immediately for a short wedding trip, and upon their return will reside in Atlanta, where Mr. Wells is connected with the U.S. treasury department. The bride traveled in a dress of navy sheer crepe with navy and white accessories. A shoulder spray of purple-throated orchids completed her costume.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Cox, Robert Cox and Miss Euzena Cox, Statesboro; Mrs. W. H. Wells, Oxford, N. C.; Mrs. L. A. Jordan, Great Falls, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Mitchell, Savannah, and Miss Geraldine Cox, of Washington, D. C.

Prior to the wedding a series of parties were given in compliment to the bride.

HERE FOR WEEK END

OPEN HOUSE FOLLOWS DELIGHTFUL RECITAL

Jack Averitt, organist, and Ronald Neil, pianist, gave a delightful recital at the Methodist church Tuesday evening, "Gray Dusk," by Nordman, and "Dreams," by Stoughton, were presented as solos by Mr. Averitt, and the remainder of the program included the following organ and piano duets: "Morning," by Chaminade; "Serenata," Widor; "Large," Dvorak; "Angels Serenade," Bragg; "Adoration," Bobowski; "Meditation," Massenet; "Rhapsody," Demarest; Misses Pruella Cromartie, Helen and Catherine Rowe served as ushers.

Following the recital Mrs. J. B. Averitt, mother of the young artist, entertained with open house. The Averitt home on Zettewor Avenue was lovely with decorations of pink roses.

The dining table was covered with a lace cloth and a silver bowl of white American Beauty roses was used in the center, flanked by silver candelabra holding white lighted tapers. Silver compotes were filled with mints and nuts. Mrs. W. H. Ellis and Mrs. J. E. Donehoe presided over the serving, serving coffee and tea. Chicken salad sandwiches and cookies were served by Mrs. Inman Poy, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. Bruce Oliff, Mrs. Brooks Simmons, Mrs. Allen Lanier, Mrs. W. B. Blitch and Mrs. Percy Averitt. About one hundred friends called and were greeted by Mrs. Joe Watson.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Ernest Sutton was honored on his twelfth birthday with a party given Saturday evening by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Sutton, at their home on North College street. Preparedness Steps

Price Administrator Henderson issued a general price regulation placing rigid government controls over retail and wholesale prices for the duration of the war.

Beginning May 11, manufacturers and wholesale prices may not exceed highest March 1942 level for each individual seller. Beginning May 18, retail prices may not exceed highest levels charged by each seller during March. Beginning July 1, no one may charge more for services sold at retail in connection with a commodity than he charged during March. All retailers, manufacturers, wholesaler and sellers of services must preserve for pricing purpose existing sales records made during March. Every retail store as of May 18 must display publicly the ceiling prices for "cost-of-living" commodities.

President Roosevelt said the cost of living has advanced about 15 percent since the autumn of 1939, and "we must now act to keep it from soaring another 50 per cent or 60 per cent during the next year or two—to hold it to somewhere near the present level." The President said, "The only effective course of action is a simultaneous attack on all of the factors which increase the cost of living—prices, profits, wages, taxes and debts."

Rationing

The Office of Price Administration said first official gasoline rationing cards will be distributed during registration in 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia May 12-14. One card will be for non-essential users and the other four will designate varying degrees of essential users. Commercial and government users of gasoline will be exempt from the rationing plan, OPA said, and such vehicles need not be registered if they are plainly marked.

The OPA announced appointment of six specialists to OPA offices throughout the country to serve as technical aides in handling problems arising from the rationing program. Motor vehicles in essential services may not have new tires if recapped ones will serve their purpose, the agency said. New and used typewriters are not under quota restriction but be available to eligibles who can establish their need for them, OPA reported.

War Strategy

The President in a radio address said American warships are in combat in the Arctic, Mediterranean and in the North and South Pacific. American troops are at stations in South America, Greenland, Iceland, the British Isles, the Middle East, the Far East, the continent of Australia and many islands of the Pacific. American planes manned by Americans are flying in troops and over all the oceans and all the continents, he said, and flying fortresses will soon be fighting for the liberation of Europe, Australia, New Zealand and much other territory will be taken for offensive action. The President said, "The U. S. is determined that the territories which have been lost will be regained."

The War Front

Admiral William Stark, commanding U. S. naval forces in the European waters, said the submarine menace off the U. S. coast is being beaten. Gen. MacArthur's headquarters in Australia reported a six-day aerial offensive by United Nations bombers against Japanese bases north of Australia destroyed more than 50 enemy planes, sank one transport and inflicted heavy damage on enemy ground installations. Air raid alarms on Corregidor Island passed the 250 mark, but the attacks began to lessen in intensity. U. S. gunners in the Manila Bay forts shot down five bombers and damaged two others, sank an armed Japanese vessel and scored hits on troops and truck columns and supply dumps.

Army and Selective Service

The War Department established an eastern military area, including all of the Atlantic seaboard. Secretary Stimson said no mass evacuations of citizens are contemplated, but vital areas will be policed to prevent potentially dangerous persons from entering them. The army announced establishment of "post agencies" in principal U. S. seaports to co-ordinate and speed shipments of war supplies to all United Nations. "Mail to American prisoners of war in the Far East whose names have appeared on official lists of the Provost Marshal General may be sent postage free, the Red Cross said. College students enrolling in advanced ROTC courses will be required to enlist in the Army Enlisted Corps if they have reached the age of 18, the War Department said. The department reported 327 negroes are

Navy

The marine corps announced its maximum enlistment age is now 33 instead of 30, and height requirements range from 43 to 75 inches, instead of 64 to 74. The first submarine completed on the Great Lakes was launched at a Wisconsin port. The Navy Department reported navy, marine corps and coast guard casualties from December 7 to April 10 totaled 6,393, including 2,991 dead.

Production and Conversion

War Production Chairman Nelson said although the U. S. is "over the hump" in war production and United Nations' output exceeds that of the Axis by a considerable margin, the real production war has just begun because of the head start of the Axis. More than 1,900,000 men and women are working in war plants where joint labor-management production drive committees have been set up, he said. The Navy and Navy Departments announced jointly the establishment of a price adjustment board in each department to review financial setups of war contractors wherever there is reason to believe excess profits are being made.

War Labor Supply

President Roosevelt said plans to register women workers next week have been abandoned for the present because there are more women workers now who want jobs than there are jobs available. He said any woman wanting to get into war work may register at a U. S. employment service office. War Manpower Chairman McNutt said the number of persons employed in war work by the end of 1942 may reach 17,500,000 compared with 15,000,000 at the beginning of 1941. He said a millions or more additional women will be employed in war industries this year. Mr. McNutt issued directives to the 1,500 employment service offices in regard to the placement of women and of men over 40.

War Bonds and Stamps

The President told his press conference he hoped people would buy war bonds and stamps out of current earnings rather than from cash reserves. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau said investments of employees in firms operating under the payroll savings plan must be raised at once to a minimum of 10 percent of the gross payroll. He said the number of employees purchasing bonds regularly must be doubled, and averages raised from $7.50 to $20 per month.

Transportation

Transportation Director Eastman asked the 48 governors and the mayors of all cities of 10,000 population or more to institute systematic staggering of business, school and working hours, planned group-use of private cars and improved regulation of local traffic to increase efficiency of passenger vehicle movement and transportation. President Roosevelt asked departmental and agency heads to draw up a transportation program for employees that will "substantially reduce" the number of cars necessary. He asked that similar programs be planned by state and local governments.

THIS IS THE STORY OF CARBOLOY

How a Most Strategic Material of the War—Invented in Germany—Was Made Available to the United Nations

More Precious Than Diamonds in War Production... Carboloy is an American trademark for cemented tungsten-carbide, an alloy second only to diamonds in hardness, more precious than diamonds as a vital material in America's war program. It is used for the tips of cutting tools, and for wear-resistant dies. Carboloy is used in small quantities; it is difficult to make and difficult to use, but it has never been scarce in modern times. There is no scarcity now.

Invented in Germany—Krupp Protected by U. S. Patents... Cemented carbide was invented in Germany—it belonged to Krupp in Germany, and this made all the rest of the world Krupp's customer. In this country, Krupp was protected by patent grants from the United States.

General Electric Creates Independent Production... The General Electric Company two years before this had begun research on tungsten-carbide and foresaw its importance in industrial production. For immediate use in its own plants and for export availability to other countries, General Electric undertook the long and arduous negotiations for the American rights. Limited rights were obtained in 1928, with Krupp continuing to export the material to its United States customers—a business which was crushed, however, as General Electric painstakingly developed its own Carboloy technique. This paved the way for General Electric to make the United States entirely independent of Germany for its cemented tungsten-carbide supply as early as 1936.

American Tool Costs Half That of German... From the start, two totally different businesses were involved. Krupp originally exported cemented carbides in chunks—and was unsuccessful. General Electric—and its subsidiary, Carboloy Co., Inc.—found it necessary to develop a complete engineering and manufacturing service, making various types of Carboloy equipped tools, training men in their use, and offering to its customers a specialized and successful production technique. For purposes of fair comparison, a typical German cemented carbide tool in 1928 cost $22.26 in the United States, while a comparable American Carboloy tool cost $11.11.

Loss to General Electric for Many Years—Art Taught to Industry... In times of peace—and 1928 was such a time—the measure of success of industrial adventure is to be found in profit to the adventurer. By such a measure, Carboloy could not be called successful. Initial expenses were great. For a time the Company lost at the rate of $1000 a day, and once had an operating deficit of more than a million dollars. "One of the major contributing reasons was the continuing high cost of development, standardization, and training. In 1936-37 alone, training courses were given to 10,000 men in industry. Moreover, six major price reductions were made in the face of operating losses, until the standard tool blank had been reduced in price 90 per cent.

Faith and Persistence... Depression was still in another reason—labor-saving tools could not be sold to industry or labor at any price. But General Electric, with determination that now seems providential, kept on—increasing its faith and persistence. The story of Carboloy does not end in "two little and two late." Like many previously untold stories of American industry, it continues, a sturdy and inspiring example of public service born of private enterprise, and characterized by hard work, ingenuity, investment, research, risk, and courage—a familiar pattern on this side of the Atlantic. General Electric Company, Stenecady, New York.

Over the entire period of its existence up to January 1st, 1942 the total net profit of the Carboloy Company was 2.5 per cent of sales.

capacity, granting new licenses, contending instances of unlicensed production, staying ahead of its market. Production Multiplied Forty-five Times in Four Years... Cemented tungsten-carbide could easily have been a source of weakness here, as it was in England, had it not been for General Electric's policy of continued expansion. In 1939, the production of the Carboloy Company was less than 20,000 lbs.; in 1940, it was 55,000 lbs.; in 1941, it was 163,000— and in December came Pearl Harbor. Now, in 1942, the Company's production is going at a rate that is 45 times that of only four years ago.

Britain Dependent upon Us... By contrast, British companies, which had been content to continue as customers of Krupp, found themselves cut off from the vital material when Poland was invaded. But the General Electric Company was able to supply substantial quantities to British industry immediately and since then has continuously filled British orders. It has, in like manner, been supplying Canada, Russia, and other United Nations. All this in addition to supplying the greatly expanded needs of American industry.

An Inspirational Story of American Industry... The story of Carboloy does not end in "two little and two late." Like many previously untold stories of American industry, it continues, a sturdy and inspiring example of public service born of private enterprise, and characterized by hard work, ingenuity, investment, research, risk, and courage—a familiar pattern on this side of the Atlantic. ODE TO SPRING IN FLAT ROCK
dear mr. editor:
spring has come into our midst at last. we can hear the whippersnapper singing to his mate in the distant woods which means that it is time to plant corn. the marking birds have commenced to chirp their sweet chirps in the trees. the robins, the crows and the noisy yellow warblers have been wrenched up in moth balls and relegated to the attic up in the loft.

the troublesome housefly has moved its whereabouts from the barnyard to the screen door... waiting for some visitor to hold it open for 5 minutes while she talks about nothing. the little humming birds have begun to suck the nectar from the buds of the morning glories and the honey suckle blossoms on fence and in fields and the chirp of the cricket can be heard under the chips at the back of the house where the wife cuts her stove-wood.

the moo of the cow sounds lonely in the far-off pasture and the caw in the lot at the house across her with a sad blue-al... the June bugs have been humming music in the air and the fireflies have begun to flash and it won't be long now before our fair land will be infested with politicians who are willing to offer their services to the deer people for mought high nothing. such chivalry is only heard of enduring the years which politicians are encircling the farms and the homes of a community.

good old spring, welcome back, you mean turnip salad, string beans, squashes and poke salad to us, you also mean that fishes will bite and that baseball can be saw and that June birds are swinging over nearly every fence to be wooed into matrimony. spring is this country's favorite month, and may she stay with us as long as she likes and keep all man summer warded off to the very last.

PLANNING TO GO PLACES
—miss kate waters of the county-seat has been the weekend guest of miss jennie weaver smith for the past ten days. she is a graduate from a big college up north, but yore correspondent could not spell what she said its name was. she will stay on as long as possible. she is getting up some bus trips to run around the county. she will haul folks to the various show places and back home for only 34½. you to furnish your own drinks ansoforth, but she will pay for some of yore breakfasts.

—miss waiters has asked this correspondent to have her name appear in print lots of publicity to stir up this dead town. Nobody has ever been anywhere to amount to anything who lives in this section. when she talked about nigrara falls to mrs. slim chance jr., she thought she meant something to eat or get out of the way of when it actually fell. she will run a bus to them provided she can get up 25 passengers of good repute and cash down.

SAYS TALMADGE GAVE AID TO JAPAN

Arnall Says Governor A "Rabid Isolationist," Spread "Poisonous Propaganda"

Lashing out furiously at his only announced opponent in the race for governor, Attorney General Ellis Arnall in a radio speech Saturday branded Eugene Talmadge an isolationist charged to "the Wheelers, Nyes, and Lindberghs," and charged that Talmadge's paper, the Statesman, had served as a propaganda organ of the Japanese government.

Sparing no details and mining no words, Arnall cited documentary evidence, quoted from letters, and read excerpts from issue after issue of the Statesman to substantiate his accusations.

"I charge that Governor Talmadge aided a foreign government, now the enemy of our country, in its effort to put the American people to sleep while it was preparing for war against the United States of America," Arnall declared.

"I charge that Governor Talmadge in the fall of 1939 sent a representative of his paper to Japan at the expense of the Imperial Japanese government under an agreement where, by the Statesman would present and print Japanese propaganda for the American consumption."

And then, after in spite of the mass murders, raping, looting and pillaging which the Japanese invader armies carried out in China, Arnall pointed out that in its issue of January 16, 1940, the Statesman had the gall to present the cause for Japan in the following language: "The Japanese explain that they are not the aggressors in China as is the general American belief. They explain that the Chinese were hostile to them, boycotted their goods and interfered with Japanese industry in China. They contend that the hostilities began when a group of Chinese massacred a Japanese settlement."

Arnall then quoted issues of the Statesman as late as April, 1939, in which Talmadge, "at that time a rabid isolationist," lambasted both the president and the administration for what Talmadge claimed was an attempt to force us into the war.

"It is indeed fortunate," said Arnall, "that the President of the United States had the foresight to make provision for war supplies and war equipment in the preparation for the Japanese and Axis war against our country, rather than to listen to the Wheelers, the Nyes, the Lindberghs and the Talmadges."

Reminding Georgians that the one and only issue of the gubernatorial campaign is efficient, honest, democratic administration of public affairs versus tyrannical, political domination of state government, Arnall promised plenty of fireworks ahead. "I am going to make a series of speeches on the radio and on the stump," he said. "I want you to listen to them. I am going to read to you the fact that the government has defeated the despotic empires of life and government. It is our job to free Georgia from political bondage."

Such action, Mr. Quillian pointed out, constitutes a triple violation—involving the merchant, the tailor and the purchaser. He said under the second War Power act signed by President Roosevelt this month, violators are liable to a $10,000 fine, or in prison or both. The three officials said they are not "running down" violators, but will tolerate no violation in the future.

The no-cuff order became effective April 1 and was aimed at augmenting the wool supply, drastically reduced by war. The law allows for six inches allowed by manufacturers for cuffs, it was ordered, must be cut by the merchant after fitting and returned to the manufacturer for reprocessing.

The Japs the other day accused the United States and Great Britain of violating international law. That is a great deal like a submarine cootie in the United States demanding his constitutional rights.

KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOR

SIX COUNTRIES claim Simon Bolivar as liberator, but only one of them took his name. The Republic of Bolivia is one of the two inland countries of the South American continent, and this fact has played no small part in the drama of her struggle toward an important place in the family of American nations.

BOLIVIA—The Heart of The New World

Bolivia lies in the very heart of South America, between the Equator and the Tropic of Capricorn. To the north and east is Brazil, and to the southeast is Paraguay; to the south is Argentina and to the west, Chile and Peru. Between Bolivia and the Atlantic are vast forested plains, and toward the Pacific, forbidding mountain barriers. Her domain embraces 416,000 square miles; her population about 3,500,000 persons.

Before the Spanish conquest Bolivia was a part of the ancient Inca empire, a mountain fastness peopled by Indian tribes. Their subjugation was a piece with Francisco Pizarro's conquest of Peru. Spurred by rumors of vast stores of gold in the mountains, repeated expeditions were made, notably by a companion of Pizarro, and by two of his brothers, Hernando and Gonzalo Pizarro.

By direction of Pizarro the notorious "conquistador" was introduced. For upward of three centuries the native Bolivians were forced to live under resident governors who did much as they pleased with the more humane decrees of the Spanish crown.

At last a spirit of revolt, drawing its inspiration from the American colonies and the French revolutions, burst into flame. The Spanish governor was imprisoned and independence proclaimed. But the early revolutionists were soon captured and for fifteen years there was a dark and uncertain period of guerrilla warfare.

Finally in 1821, the tide turned for the revolutionists when news came of the victories of Bolivar and San Martin. In 1825 the Spanish authorities fled La Paz and the next year the new state adopted a constitution. It was drawn by Bolivar himself, and the new-born republic became Bolivia.

The Bolivia of today is a great storehouse of natural wealth. Though tin, by a wide margin, takes first place among mineral deposits, Bolivia is also rich in coal, oil, iron, copper, silver, lead, zinc, and other metals.
